Children of Another God-T. C. Southwell 2016-01-25 When a young peasant girl is injured while hunting, she meets a strange, magical man who is a member of a despised race - Mujar. Trueemen scorn the shape-shifting unmen for their odd, humble ways, and envy their power over the elements. Mujar do not use their powers for good or evil, they simply exist, immortal and apparently purposeless. Now a scourge is sweeping the land, armies of mounted warriors who cannot be defeated are wiping out Trueemankind without mercy. They are known as the Black Riders, but no one knows where they come from or why they seem bent on exterminating every man, woman and child. Taisy traps the Mujar with gold, which has an odd effect on them, to make him help her, but her father intends to throw him off to a Pit, from which he will be unable to escape. Taisy does not believe the Mujar deserves such a fate, so she frees him and begs him to take her with him on his journey. He agrees, and they set off across Shamaresar, continuing his quest to find an old hermit's lost son. There is far more at stake than Taisy realises, however, and she has innocently stumbled upon the last free Mujar, who has the power to decide the fate of her race.

The British Empire-Sarah E. Stockwell 2008-01-29 This volume adopts a distinctive thematic approach to the history of British imperialism from the eighteenth to the twentieth century. It brings together leading scholars of British imperial history: Tony Ballantyne, John Darwin, Andrew Dilley, Elizabeth Elbourne, Kent Fordowich, Eliga Gould, Catherine Hall, Stephen Howe, Sarah Stockwell, Andrew Thompson, Stuart Ward, and Jon Wilson. Each contributor offers a personal assessment of the topic at hand, and examines key interpretive debates among historians. Addresses many of the core issues that constitute a broad understanding of the British Empire, including the economics of the empire, the empire and religion, and imperial identities.

Oranges and Sunshine-Margaret Humphreys 2011-10-13 Also published as Empty Cradles. In 1986 Margaret Humphreys, a Nottingham social worker, investigated a woman's claim that, aged four, she had been put on a boat to Australia by the British government. At first incredulous, Margaret discovered that this was just the tip of an enormous iceberg. Up to 150,000 children, some as young as three years old, had been deported from children's homes in Britain and shipped off to a "new life" in distant parts of the Empire, right up until as recently as 1970. Many were told that their parents were dead, and parents often believed that their children had been adopted in Britain. In fact, for many children it was to be a life of horrendous physical and sexual abuse far away from everything they knew. Humphreys reveals not only how she unravelled this shocking secret and how it became her mission to reunite these innocent and unwilling exiles with their families in Britain before it was too late.

Lord of the Flies-William Golding 2012-03-15 William Golding's Lord of the Flies is a dystopian classic. "exciting, relevant and thought-provoking" (Stephen King). When a group of schoolboys are stranded on a desert island, what could go wrong? 'One of my favorite books - I read it every couple of years.' (Suzanne Collins, author of The Hunger Games) A plane crashes on a desert island. The only survivors are a group of schoolboys. By day, they discover fantastic wildlife and dazzling beaches, learning to survive; at night, they are haunted by nightmares of a primitive beast. Orphaned by society, it isn't long before their innocent childhood games devolve into a savage, murderous hunt ... 'Stands out mightily in my memory ... Such a strong statement about the human heart.' (Patricia Cornwell) 'Terrifying and haunting.' (Kingsley Amis) 'Beautifully written, tragic and provocative.' (E. M. Forster) ONE OF THE BBC'S ICONIC NOVELS THAT SHAPED OUR WORLD! What readers are saying: 'Every real human being should read this ... This is what we are. 'It's brilliant, it's captivating, it's thought provoking and brutal and for some, it truly terrifying.' 'It can be read and re-read many times, and every time something new will appear.' 'There is a reason why this is studied at school ... Excellent read.' 'This is one of the few books I've read that I keep on my Kindle to read again.' 'I revisit this every few years and it's always fresh and impressive ... One of the best books I've ever read.'

The Forgotten Books of Eden-Rutherford Platt, Jr. 2006-08 This work contains twenty ancient holy books, many of which were rejected from the Old Testament. Some of these books were later preserved by the early Christian Church as Apocryphal writings, often inserted in Bibles between the Old and New Testaments. They were originally recognized by the Jews as Pseudepigrapha because they were attributed to writers that were long since passed, in an effort to give them sanctity. It is these that are reproduced in this volume. Some of the titles include The First and Second Books of Adam and Eve, The Secrets of Enoch, The Psalms of Solomon, The Odes of Solomon, The Story of Ahiqar, and The Testaments of the Twelve Patriarchs. More and more interest is being paid to excluded texts, and this collection falls into that category, having added another interesting dimension to lost Biblical texts.

Warrior Mums- Michelle Daly 2014-03-24 One of the benefits of social media is getting to meet the parents of special needs children and adults. I have grown to know and truly admire these brave people. Our solitary journeys have taken many different roads, yet we’ve all connected on sites like Facebook, Twitter, and other forums. The support we give each other is a lifeline—an opportunity to not only share the joys our sons and daughters bring into our lives, but also the chance to rant about the frequent injustices we meet head on. I am honoured to have met so many fantastic Warrior Mums from around the world, so honoured that I decided to feature some of their stories in a blog series, which I have now reproduced in this book. These mums will inspire you, just like they have me, these brave women who share their stories from childhood to motherhood and reveal far more than they normally would, in the hope their stories will help others.

The Personal Social Services- Robert Adams 1996 Covers the full range of community care, social care, social work, and social service provision that exists in the statutory, voluntary, private and informal sectors in Britain dealing with their strengths, shortcomings and impact on workers and service users.

Out of Hearing- Judith Masson 1999-03-12 The system of representation where children and young people are provided with both a social work guardian ad litem and a specialist solicitor is widely regarded as a model of excellence. However, until now, information about the system and its advantages has tended to be open to the views and experiences of the children concerned. Based on a unique research study, Out of Hearing investigates the representation service from the child's perspective. Observations of representatives meetings with their child clients and separate interviews with the children and their representatives paint a disturbing picture of the isolation of children at a time of immense stress and upheaval. Feedback from children about what they considered helpful or disturbing is set out clearly and illustrated vividly. Out of Hearing is essential reading for solicitors, guardians ad litem, social workers, judges, magistrates, policy makers, and academics. It will also be of interest to children's rights organisations, young people and charities. "Whatever one may make of the conclusions of the report, what it undeniably does is paint a very graphic picture indeed of the ineffectual process of care proceedings upon children. For thirteens (if for no other) it should be read by all childcare law practitioners." Philip Thomson Head of Legal Services, Essex County Council "The views and aspirations of the children really do shine through; their concerns and their agendas are set out clearly and illustrated vividly." HONS AND REBELS - JESSICA MITFORD 2020

The Lost Gospel-Simcha Jacobovici 2014-11-12 The mystery of a newly translated “gospel”—filled with startling revelations and fascinating detail about the life and times of Jesus—is now revealed in this ground-breaking follow-up to the New York Times bestseller The Jesus Family Tomb. Waiting to be rediscovered in the British Library is an ancient manuscript from early Christianity, copied by an anonymous monk. This document is at least 1,450 years old, possibly dating to the first century, but it has never been properly translated or decoded. Until now. Working with an expert team of translators and digital imaging experts, acclaimed authors Simcha Jacobovici and Barrie Wilson provide the first-ever translation, from Syriac into English, of this unique document, which tells the inside story of Jesus’ social, family, and political life. The Lost Gospel takes readers on an unparalleled historical adventure through this paradigm-shifting text. What the authors eventually discover is as astounding as it is unexpected: the confirmation of Jesus’ marriage to Mary the Magdalene; the names of their two children; a previously unknown plot on Jesus’ life more than a decade prior to the crucifixion; an attempt to abduct Mary and kill the children; the politics behind the crucifixion; and a religious movement that antedates that of Paul’s—the Church of Mary the Magdalene. Part detective story, part modern adventure, The Lost Gospel reveals secrets that have been hidden in plain sight for millennia. Jacobovici and Wilson’s surprising discovery and vigorous scholarly research position this ancient text alongside the Dead Sea Scrolls and Gnostic writings as a pillar of our evolving understanding of the historical Jesus. Translation of ancient text by Toby Burke

The Dark Side of Childhood in Late Antiquity and the Middle Ages- Katarina Mustakallio 2011 This volume examines conceptions, ideas and habits connected with childhood in Antiquity and the Middle Ages, focusing on the “dark sides of childhood” in the pre-modern world. The authors investigate the long-term attitudes of people, as well as ruptures in habits and customs. The book is divided into three parts. “Unwanted” deals with parents who were unable to bring up their baby and handed it over to other people or the cruel whims of destiny. “Disabled” addresses what we would label as children’s illnesses since disability was a concept largely unknown to ancient people. “Nearly Lost” examines demons, viewed as destructive forces with the ability to destroy children or young people, sometimes by literally sucking their lives away. The articles are written by an international team of specialists from Belgium, Finland, Italy and the United States and were presented at conferences organised by the research project “Religion and Childhood. Socialisation from the Roman Empire to Christian World”, funded by the Academy of Finland (2009-2012, directed by Dr. Katarina Mustakallio), at the University of Tampere, Finland.
